

DEAN OF THEATRICAL MANAGERS WEDS AND TRIES TO KEEP SECRET

Florence Quayle, Young Actress, Is Bride of Veteran William Harris.

Efforts at secrecy failed, and it became known to-day of the wedding of William Harris, dean of theatrical managers and two years ago toasted as "the most popular man in the profession," who was married to Miss Florence Quayle, a young actress.

Mr. Harris admitted at his home in New York that he had been married to Miss Quayle, but he was very anxious to avoid publicity. He was understood to say the ceremony was performed two years ago in New Jersey, but Broadway understands the marriage was only three weeks ago.

Mr. Harris is father of Henry B. Harris, who lost his life on the Titanic. He began his fortune while a member of the producing firm of Rich & Harris, who had musical and dramatic success on the comedy, dramatic and light opera stage. He has not been so prominent in the news as several other managers, but he is the silent man behind many large ventures and has had money in some of the most notable successes.

He placed his son, Henry B. Harris, in control of his interests and had practically retired from active management of affairs, but when his son was lost on the Titanic he again took up the work and is the practical manager of the firm bearing his name. He comes in from New York almost every day, and in the old days is a familiar figure in Broadway.

NEW JUSTICES AT WORK.
Congratulatory Speeches Omitted by Request of Weeks and Philbin.

The two new Supreme Court Justices, Eugene A. Philbin and Barlow S. Weeks, appointed by Gov. Sulzer to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of Justice Edward T. McCall and the death of Justice Henry Blodgett, took their seats in the old Court House today. The customary congratulatory speeches by members of the bar were omitted by request of both Justices.

Justice Weeks began the call of his calendar in Trial Term, Part VII, immediately, and began hearing the first case. Approaches to the bench were lined with flowers. In the jury box sat the family of Justice Weeks. Members of the firm of Philbin, Beckman, Menken, Griscow & Bogue, of which Justice Philbin was the senior, met the new Justice in his chambers before court convened. William C. Clark made a brief speech, presenting a gavel to Justice Philbin.

The Plumber's Busy Day.
(From the Cardiff Western Mail.)
To illustrate some point in one of his addresses at Haverfordwest Dr. Ballard the other night said: "One day the bathroom pipes of my house in London went wrong, and a plumber was sent for to put them right. Now I know exactly how long the work would take. A quarter of an hour would have been ample. Well, we left him there and forgot all about him, till an hour after it dawned upon us when my wife went quietly up to the bathroom and surprised our plumber friend, who was lying out full length in the bath smoking."
